

Reimagining Campus Ministry & Scaling Success

Introducing Campus Missionaries

A New Vision

OCF has embarked on a groundbreaking initiative to hire, train, and place full-time staff on college campuses to serve students - building disciples, rich community, and a bridge between campus and parish life. Every college student should have the opportunity to be part of a faithful campus community where they are known and loved, and where they are led by someone equipped to guide them spiritually.

Pilot Program Texas A&M University

In autumn 2022, the initiative launched with a part-time campus missionary, transitioning to full-time later this year. Results thus far are indicative of success, and we're only getting started!

27 Orthodox students have participated in at least four gatherings.

14 catechumens and inquirers are currently active in the chapter.

Expansion

OCF is actively pursuing a second location for autumn 2023. We will slowly scale the program to 5, 10, 25 campuses and more!

Our goal is that every college campus in America will have a full-time OCF staff member dedicated to fostering discipleship among students.

We Need You

Campus missionaries will radically transform the Church's ministry to college students. As success occurs, demand will be huge, and OCF is positioning itself now so that this demand does not outpace our ability to deliver. We want your help getting there!

Will you make a donation now to ensure college students have a home in OCF?
